Subject: RE: Retirement - Warren Goetsch at end of December

Reminder — Please be discrete. Here's the original message that went out.

As most of you know, Warren Goetsch has announced that he will be retiring at the end of this year. He does not want a reception or party, so even though I'd love to have one, I will be begrudgingly respecting his wishes. Instead, I will be doing two things: a card party, and a retirement gift. If you'd like to contribute to either (or both).

Card Party: If you have any well wishes or memories you'd like to share with Warren (that you might normally have saved to talk about during a retirement party), jot them down in a card or a note and mail to my address:

Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) If you would like to send a memory or a story or pictures via e-mail (valerie.booth@illinois.gov), I will print it out and include as part of the gift. Please try to have those in by December 27 so I can assemble them as part of the gift.

Retirement Gift: If you've been in Warren's office, you know he has enough plaques and coffee cups to stuff his truck. You may not know, though, that he's spent a lot of his time outside the office over the last few years working on yard improvements, including new trees and a patio. To help add to his enjoyment of that space, his retirement gift will be a square metal fire pit, with logos of some of his favorite things engraved on each side (the University of Illinois, the Department of Agriculture, etc.).

PLEASE BE DISCREET about this. Feel free to share this with people you think would be interested.
